

Technical Section

All Heritage Clay Tiles are independently tested and approved by Lucideon Building Technology who has fifty years experience in conducting material tests. The tests involve subjecting the tiles to frequent cycles of soaking, freezing and thawing. The criteria for achieving a pass is stringent as the rigorous tests really push the tiles to the limit.

Our current test results can be viewed on our website at www.heritagetiles.co.uk. We are proud of the high pass rates our tiles achieve and encourage our customers to compare these results with other companies when making a choice.

Recommendations

Tiles to be laid in accordance with BS 5534. Tiles to be drawn from a minimum of 3 separate pallets to ensure best effect, tiles are delivered on non returnable shroud wrapped pallets. Pallets on site should be on firm, dry and level ground, no more that 2 pallets high due to limitations of the print process, colours should be selected from actual samples.

Quality Assurance

Heritage tiles conform to BS EN 1304:2005 and BS EN 539-2:2013 and are manufactured under a Quality Management System, which meets the requirements of ISO:9001 2008. Our materials and finished products are tested by our quality control staff at every stage of the production process.
